

CALL MR. ROBESON: A life, with songs.

Written and Performed by Tayo Aluko, with Michael Conliffe, Piano

Alnwick Playhouse, Good Friday 29 March, 2013.

Greetings, and Welcome. I wonder how many of us observed the Christian tradition of not eating red meat today, it being Good Friday? In recognition of the death of Jesus Christ, many people go vegetarian, or eat only fish. Those of you who did might rightly be called Christian fundamentalists, because you have followed one of the fundamentals of the Christian faith. Presumably, you are not particularly dangerous or uncivilized people, or terrorists for being fundamentalists? Why then is it that these characteristics are associated with Muslims that choose similarly to observe the letter of their own faith? Somehow, in recent years, or at least since turn of this century, that has been the norm, and the reason behind the countless wars that our leaders have taken innocent young men and women from these shores to fight in places they had previously never heard of before. Islam serves as the contemporary version of the bogey man that militaristic politicians have historically used to justify invading other people's land and stealing their resources. In the past, Africans needed to be civilized, and communists fought in all corners of the globe. Today, Mali, Somalia, Sudan, Algeria, Congo and other such nations happen to be particularly war-torn, and if one looks closely at these places, one would find that they are particularly resource-rich, with commodities that the West happens to feel they need and endless supply of. When Paul Robeson raised such concerns in the early part of the last century, he was branded a communist – that most dangerous of labels that continues to send shivers down the spine of many westerners today. Socialism has a similar, if less acute effect, but my understanding of that system is that it believes in the equality of people and that the world's resources should be shared fairly among the God's children. Such thinking was revolutionary two thousand years ago, and was the real reason behind the execution of that Palestinian revolutionary, Jesus of Nazareth. One way to honour Him is to continue His fight for justice here on earth today. That would be the true meaning of Christian - and I would argue - Muslim fundamentalism. I hope you enjoy the show.

Tayo Aluko. Writer, Performer, Producer. Tayo was born in Nigeria, and now lives in Liverpool. He worked until recently as an architect and property developer, with a special but frustrated interest in eco-friendly construction. He has fronted orchestras as baritone soloist in British concert halls, and has also sung in Germany, Ireland and Nigeria. He has performed lead roles in such operas and musicals as Nabucco, Kiss Me Kate and Anything Goes. CALL MR ROBESON won the Argus Angel Award for Artistic Excellence and Best Male Performer Award at the 2008 Brighton Festival Fringe, two Merit Awards for Excellence in London in 2010 and three awards at the London Ontario Fringe last June. He has performed the play around the UK, the United States of America, Canada and Nigeria, and at New York's Carnegie Hall in February 2012 for his 50th birthday. His other piece titled FROM BLACK AFRICA TO THE WHITE HOUSE - a talk about Black Political Resistance, illustrated with Spirituals has also been performed in three continents. He researched, wrote and narrated to camera a piece on West African History before the Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade, which forms part of the permanent exhibit at Liverpool's International Slavery Museum. His 15-minute play, HALF MOON, which also deals with ancient Africa has been performed several times in the UK.

Michael Conliffe, Piano and original incidental music.

Mike started playing piano by ear as child, playing gospel in church and later discovering Jazz, which he went on to study at Liverpool Community College and Leeds college of Music. As well as playing regularly in Jazz festivals round the UK, Mike has toured both coasts of America with Call Mr Robeson, culminating in the February 2012 performance at Carnegie Hall with Tayo. Mike also performs in another two-hander, a Jazz drama God Bless the Child about Billie Holliday. He plays regularly as soloist and with Swing and Function bands at weddings, other celebrations and at corporate events. Mike also teaches piano to aspiring Pop, Blues and Jazz musicians and to singer/song writers.
