

CALL MR. ROBESON: A life, with songs.

Written and Performed by Tayo Aluko, with Michael Conliffe, Piano

Tristan Bates Theatre, Covent Garden, London, Friday 4 October, 2013.

Greetings, and Welcome. “A whiff of anti-Semitism” was a phrase used in relation to the Daily Mail articles about the Labour Party leader’s late father, some of whose teenage writings had been unearthed by the paper and used to label him as a hater of Britain. The fact that Mr. Miliband Sr was a Marxist also featured widely in the reporting, but nobody has, as far one can tell, stepped up to accuse anybody of any other form of racism, since Marxists are also something of a minority and an endangered species in these parts. Of course, many Marxists stay “in the closet” for fear of attack and ridicule, but other braver souls choose to, er “call a spade a spade” and damn the consequences. When at this Festival a few days ago, a Jewish woman gave a talk in which she spoke about Robeson, Jewish people and Palestine, mentioning Israeli persecution of Palestinians and others, the theatre itself - and the festival – received a call the following day accusing us all of being anti-Semitic. I wish I knew who she was, so I can see how she reacts if I called her racist for attacking me personally. That having been said, the fact remains that such accusations are often convenient ways of deflecting people away from uncomfortable truths. The Israeli Prime Minister has been in the USA recently calling the new Iranian President a wolf in sheep’s clothing, and he and others have criticised President Obama for even talking to Mr. Rouhani at all, and giving the slightest of indications that diplomacy rather than military force might be considered a worthwhile way of dealing with any Arabic people. The fact that many accuse the State of Israel of what can be described as Apartheid and illegal occupation of other people’s land is not raised much in these arguments, but it deserves to be. The contributor who spoke about Israel expressed the opinion that Paul Robeson supported the Zionist cause and the establishment of the State of Israel, which was surprising and uncomfortable for me to hear, but I wouldn’t label her racist for doing so. If what she said is true, it remains for Robeson fans, like everyone else, to decide if and where our forbears may have erred, and then determine how we make amends for today, for justice and truth will always be colour and faith blind. I hope you enjoy the show.

Tayo Aluko. Writer, Performer. Tayo was born in Nigeria, and now lives in Liverpool. He worked previously as an architect and property developer, with a special but frustrated interest in eco-friendly construction. He has fronted orchestras as baritone soloist in British concert halls, and has also performed lead roles in such operas and musicals as Nabucco, Kiss Me Kate and Anything Goes. CALL MR ROBESON won three awards at the London Ontario Fringe in June 2012 and Best Solo Show at the Stratford UK Fringe this June. He has performed the play around the UK, Canada, Nigeria, Jamaica and the USA (including New York’s Carnegie Hall in February 2012). His other piece titled FROM BLACK AFRICA TO THE WHITE HOUSE - a talk about Black Political Resistance, illustrated with Spirituals, has also been performed on three continents. He researched, wrote and narrated to camera a piece on West African History before the Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade, which forms part of the permanent exhibit at Liverpool’s International Slavery Museum. His 15-minute play, HALF MOON, which also deals with ancient Africa, has been performed several times in the UK.

Michael Conliffe, Piano and original incidental music.

Mike started playing piano by ear as child, playing gospel in church and later discovering Jazz, which he went on to study at Liverpool Community College and Leeds college of Music. As well as playing regularly in Jazz festivals round the UK, Mike has toured both coasts of America with Call Mr Robeson, culminating in the February 2012 performance at Carnegie Hall with Tayo. Mike also performs in another two-hander, a Jazz drama God Bless the Child about Billie Holliday. He plays regularly as soloist and with Swing and Function bands at weddings, other celebrations and at corporate events. Mike also teaches piano to aspiring Pop, Blues and Jazz musicians and to singer/song writers.
