

CALL MR. ROBESON: A life, with songs.

Written and Performed by Tayo Aluko, with Michael Conliffe, Piano

Warehouse Theatre, Croydon. Friday 4 – 20 May, 2012. Week 2

Greetings and Welcome. They're funny people in France. Not only did over 80% of those eligible to vote go to the polls last week (when did that last happen here?) but they chose a socialist – one who vowed to tax the rich - for President! In Greece, thanks to wide-scale protests against painful austerity measures, a left-wing party is poised to form a new coalition government. Here in the UK, we look on as austerity measures bite - perhaps more slowly than elsewhere, but just as surely. We have had our own protests – outside St. Paul's and in several places around the country, and even though those died down in the winter, something tells me that they will return with the spring flora and fauna. As certainly as spring follows winter, people will fight to save their livelihoods, and protest against injustice and inequality. It often takes bravery and great self-sacrifice, sometimes in the face of death. Paul Robeson is a great example in this regard. He wasn't afraid to take sides, whatever the personal consequences, and as a result, he is revered all over the world for his activism, decades after his death, notwithstanding the job done to bury his memory. As the conditions that cause anger and resentment continue unchanged – billions spent on war and a pittance on caring, education, health and the arts, there is a lot to stand up and shout about. We have an opportunity to join with people who wish to protect the vulnerable (we all are), and to bring our rulers' minds round to focusing on what really is important in life. Round the country, arts centres are closing, children's and old people's homes are closing. People are losing jobs in the professions that matter the most to the health and wellbeing of the people, and we are told all this is necessary, due the situation that we were put in by irresponsible and greedy people in power, or in positions of influence. The fight is on. People have shown bravery around the world, and it is time for us all to take sides, like Robeson did . I hope you enjoy the show.

Tayo Aluko. Writer, Performer, Producer. Tayo was born in Nigeria, and now lives in Liverpool. He worked until recently as an architect and property developer, with a special but as yet frustrated interest in eco-friendly construction. As a baritone, he has sung as soloist in British concert halls accompanied by orchestra, and has also sung in Germany, Ireland and Nigeria. He has performed lead roles in such operas and musicals as Nabucco, Kiss Me Kate and Anything Goes. CALL MR ROBESON won the Argus Angel Award for Artistic Excellence and Best Male Performer Award at the 2008 Brighton Festival Fringe, and two Merit Awards for Excellence in London in 2010. He has performed the play around the UK, the United States of America, Canada and Nigeria, and at New York's Carnegie Hall in February 2012 for his 50th birthday. His other piece titled FROM BLACK AFRICA TO THE WHITE HOUSE: a talk about Black Political Resistance, illustrated with Spirituals has also been performed in three continents. He researched, wrote and narrated to camera a piece on West African History before the Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade, which forms part of the permanent exhibit at Liverpool's International Slavery Museum. A song from his CD, RECALLING ROBESON is featured as the July 2008 song of the month on the Labor Notes website.

Michael Conliffe, Piano and original incidental music

Mike started playing piano by ear as child, playing gospel in church and later discovering Jazz, which he went on to study at Liverpool Community College and Leeds college of Music. As well as playing regularly in Jazz festivals round the UK, Mike has toured both coasts of America with Call Mr Robeson, culminating in the February 2012 performance at Carnegie Hall with Tayo. Mike also performs in another two-hander, a Jazz drama God Bless the Child about Billie Holliday, in which he also acts. He plays regularly as soloist and with Swing and Function bands at weddings, other celebrations and at corporate events. Mike also teaches piano to aspiring Pop, Blues and Jazz musicians and to singer/song writers.
