

CALL MR. ROBESON: A life, with songs.

Written and Performed by Tayo Aluko, with Michael Conliffe, Piano
Warehouse Theatre, Croydon. Friday 4 – 20 May, 2012. Week 3

Greetings and Welcome. “Not funded by Croydon Council” says a part of the Warehouse Theatre’s website. After several years of reducing funding from the Arts Council, Croydon’s removal of one last bit of funding has thrown this jewel of a theatre into administration. The Council will argue that they were forced into this by government cuts, which in turn, we are told, are due to the previous government’s economic policies, and the world recession. That would be easy to accept if the money needed to sustain the noble pursuit of arts (not to talk of other crucial areas being starved, such as libraries, health and social services) was not being spent – by the billion – on meaningless and destructive illegal wars abroad, nuclear and other military hardware, and even on additional policing needed to contain legitimate protest against injustices and inequalities in our society. As the people in the Middle East, Spain and Greece, and as the Occupy movement worldwide have shown, enormous change can come if people rally together to fight unjust and unequal systems. As Paul Robeson, demonstrated in his time, things don’t have to affect us directly for us to decide to stand in solidarity with those affected. This theatre, like many struggling arts centres around the country offers challenging art, inspiration and entertainment in a world where meaningless, second-rate and ruthlessly commercial entertainment sucks up obscene amounts of cash. Lose it, and we lose a very useful weapon in the fight against corporate and military greed, and oppression. This artist is taking sides, but it is not just us artists who must do that – all of us must. Remember the saying, “First they came for the jews...” which ended... “..There was nobody left to speak for me”. Let us mobilize to save the Warehouse Theatre. I hope you enjoy the show, and then give generously to the Save the Warehouse Appeal.

Tayo Aluko. Writer, Performer, Producer. Tayo was born in Nigeria, and now lives in Liverpool. He worked until recently as an architect and property developer, with a special but as yet frustrated interest in eco-friendly construction. As a baritone, he has sung as soloist in British concert halls accompanied by orchestra, and has also sung in Germany, Ireland and Nigeria. He has performed lead roles in such operas and musicals as Nabucco, Kiss Me Kate and Anything Goes. CALL MR ROBESON won the Argus Angel Award for Artistic Excellence and Best Male Performer Award at the 2008 Brighton Festival Fringe, and two Merit Awards for Excellence in London in 2010. He has performed the play around the UK, the United States of America, Canada and Nigeria, and at New York’s Carnegie Hall in February 2012 for his 50th birthday. His other piece titled FROM BLACK AFRICA TO THE WHITE HOUSE: a talk about Black Political Resistance, illustrated with Spirituals has also been performed in three continents. He researched, wrote and narrated to camera a piece on West African History before the Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade, which forms part of the permanent exhibit at Liverpool’s International Slavery Museum. A song from his CD, RECALLING ROBESON is featured as the July 2008 song of the month on the Labor Notes website. He sits on the Board of the Liverpool Philharmonic Hall and Events Company.

Michael Conliffe, Piano and original incidental music

Mike started playing piano by ear as child, playing gospel in church and later discovering Jazz, which he went on to study at Liverpool Community College and Leeds college of Music. As well as playing regularly in Jazz festivals round the UK, Mike has toured both coasts of America with Call Mr Robeson, culminating in the February 2012 performance at Carnegie Hall with Tayo. Mike also performs in another two-hander, a Jazz drama God Bless the Child about Billie Holliday, in which he also acts. He plays regularly as soloist and with Swing and Function bands at weddings, other celebrations and at corporate events. Mike also teaches piano to aspiring Pop, Blues and Jazz musicians and to singer/song writers.
